

A Blueprint for Ending War

The website World Beyond War offers a series of actions that will move us towards an end to war. Forty are listed below, with links to learn about each one.

Choose one of these strategies and after learning about what it involves, create

- A training pamphlet or
- A training video or
- An informative poster

This introduction is from the World Beyond War website:

No single strategy will end war. They must be layered and woven together to be effective. In what follows, each element is stated as sparsely as possible. Entire books have been written about them, a few of which are listed in the Resources Section. As will be apparent, choosing a world beyond war will require us to dismantle the existing War System and create the institutions of an Alternative Global Security System and/or to further develop them where they already exist in embryo. Note that World Beyond War is not proposing a sovereign world government, but rather a web of governing structures voluntarily entered into, and a shift in cultural norms away from violence and domination.
